

Hello everyone,

The Easter break was a welcome one for me and I had intended to do a number of things Netherby related but the warm weather prompted me to get into a badly maintained garden and try to beautify it somewhat! It is still a work in progress!

However, I was also determined that I would go to our local library and see what was on offer. Naturally, once I start thinking Netherby I lose track of time and come up with a lot of questions and gaps to fill. Mostly regarding my own family.

The family tree in our family has been covered off on 3 of the 4 grandparents (that I know of). The missing grandparent is of course Elizabeth Ann Cubbin. I had hoped that I would establish some more family connections via the AFTC magazine but to date I have not heard from any family members.

My luck may have changed. Whilst at the library a google search took me to an Isle of Man website and I saw a question regarding the Cubbin family. It was relatively recent (January 2010). I responded immediately and less than 24 hours later received an email address to contact.

That's where this story ends until Lara and myself work out the family tree/s. Keep your fingers crossed for us—it would be very nice to locate a relative.

The AFTC magazine has stopped publishing my classified. I will make contact again to request they continue with the ad as it has been a success.

From what I can gather, Karina, of www.netherby.homestead.com remains out of regular contact with her website.

Therefore it is difficult to know what is her vision for 2016. My first wish would be to have a representative for each of the Netherby families present.

As I only have contacts with about 10% - what thoughts/ideas can you share with me that will help in establishing contact with the 90% missing?

What are your thoughts/hints/suggestions? Let's use this newsletter as a means of communicating and keeping 2016 alive and happening.

I am more than happy to publish this more often but don't want it to be about me! So please submit your content for publishing.
